JOB OPENING:
Human Relations Teacher – grades 6 - 8
Part-time position
Start Date: August 2024

About Hyla School – grades 6-12

Each developmental stage of adolescence comes with its own unique needs and inspiring potential. Our program is designed to provide for these needs in a caring community to help students realize and live their full potential. From grades 6-8, and then again in grades 9-12, students experience profound and lasting growth in many directions – neurobiological, intrapersonal, interpersonal, and academic. We work together collaboratively to honor the unique identity, voice, and path of each student. We believe in personal development as much as academic growth, integrity as much as achievement, and challenge as much as support. We have fun, we get outside a lot, and we love our students.

The Opportunity

This is an exciting opportunity to join a team of passionate and driven educators in a caring and collaborative school community. We are looking for teachers who believe in and embody our strategic vision through their planning and practice. Human Relations, Environmental Sustainability, Global Education, and Future-Ready Skills are meaningfully woven throughout content area classes. Our interdisciplinary, experiential, and project-based learning approach makes learning meaningful, engaging, and fun. Teacher roles stretch beyond classroom periods as teachers actively engage in the life of the school from Gaga Madness tournaments, to organizing dances, to leading Disc Golf clubs and service projects. You will be a member of a collaborative team who works together to create, maintain, and continue to strengthen this intentional and thoughtful program designed exactly for what middle schoolers need.

Job Summary

Hyla School is seeking a middle school Human Relations teacher. Hyla’s Human Relations program is core and critical to our school’s mission. It is the class where Hyla’s culture of care, community, and belonging is taught, modeled, nurtured and strengthened. It is an authentic learning environment where students learn and practice social and emotional skills necessary to navigate the complexity of adolescence and beyond. Active listening, problem-solving, effective communication, community building, and leadership all happen in Human Relations. The Human Relations program proactively and responsively supports the tremendous growth, development, changes, and challenges that happen throughout middle school, giving students regular and ongoing learning opportunities to develop self-awareness, voice, confidence, empathy, integrity, kindness, compassion, and citizenship. Successful candidates will be passionate about working with middle school students, have knowledge of current, best social-emotional educational practices and strategies, and be able to use flexible and innovative pedagogical techniques appropriate to a variety of learning styles.

The social and emotional elements of Human Relations are central to the Hyla students experience throughout each year. For early adolescents, understanding themselves as humans is equally as important as their academic growth. Having a safe space to share and listen with their peers while navigating the incredible joy, challenge and growth of the middle school experience helps make the whole Hyla program more successful. The purpose of the Human Relations class is, using words from the Hyla mission statement, “to encourage students to respect and value themselves and others,” which includes forming caring relationships and developing as individuals with integrity. The underlying goal of the Human Relations curriculum is to assist students in developing a healthy identity. Through a blend of interactive, informative, and experiential learning exercises, students develop the skills, attitudes, and knowledge to more effectively interact with other people. Students will increase awareness of themselves and their role and responsibility in the world around them.

Qualifications

- Bachelor’s Degree in Teaching and/or counseling or related field, Master’s Degree preferred
- At least 3 years of teaching experience at the middle school level, in a school setting preferred
- Extensive professional development in current, best practices for teaching social and emotional learning in middle school
- Experience creating, implementing, and developing exceptional inclusive, safe, student-centered, and caring learning environments.
- Exceptional classroom management
- Excellent interpersonal, communication, time-management, and organizational skills

Requirements

- A genuine love for middle school students and passion for Hyla’s mission and values.
- A commitment to investing in, caring for, and educating the whole-child and their academic, social, and emotional growth.
- An ongoing investment in seeking out and engaging in professional development and growth opportunities.
